TESTIMONY OF J. J. RYAN

WHO CLAIMED TO HAVE CONTRACTS WITH J. M. JOHNS.

Agreements Were Written on the Letter Heads of the Filbeck Hotel at Terre Haute.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 14.-Standing roo trial of Daniel Voorhees Miller and Joseph M. Johns for conspiracy to extort a bribe in frauds. Nine witnesses were examined today and the government has four more to call, so that the defense will not begin until the afternoon of the third day and the case may not get to the jury until the last day of the week. Much interest is being taken in the anticipated appearance of the defendants on the witness stand.

Court was in session to-day from 9 a. m. until after 6 p. m. The principal witnesses were Ryan and the officials from Washington. The defense was not taken by surprise until in the afternoon, when the stenographic reports of the private secretaries of Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow and of Mr. Robb of interviews with Miller were introduced as evi-

Joseph T. Watson, secretary and stenogn the Ryan case and the discovery of his relations with Johns. He then read half that these officials were thus questioning Miller regarding the case. It required one hour and a half for him to read the notes, which he went over much more The difference of an hour in time was accounted for by the witness because of the hesitation of Miller at times during the

ROBB ON THE STAND. The sensational appearance of Watson on the stand was followed soon afterward by Charles H. Robb, assistant attorney general for the Postoffice Department, being called, and he produced a copy of the Alexander Thomas, secretary. transcribed stenographic notes of his secretary, Mr. Tullis, of another long interview with Miller when the same persons were present. At the first meeting of Miller with Robb and Cochran, the defendant did not know that a stenographer was concealed in the room, as he did in the last case when he made an equally lengthy statement and signed the report made by Mr. The extent of the detective work 1890, and while never paying a commonthat has been done in these cases by the government was never disclosed until during the afternoon session, when verbatim reports of these interviews of Miller were submitted in evidence, notwithstanding the submitted in evidence, notwithstanding the objection and exception of counsel for the POSTAL FRAUD INQUIRY defense. It is now known that more of the detective work of the government will be disclosed to-morrow, when postoffice inspec-tors are to take the stand. When John J. Ryan was recalled to-day MR. Judge Thompson ruled so that further ref-erences to Miller were admitted. Ryan testified that Johns told how favorably Miller had been impressed with the witness in Washington; that Miller's salary of only .000 was small there, and that both needed money. Ryan claimed to have made two contracts with Johns at the Filbeck Hotel in Terre Haute, one for $2,500 for a favorable decision, and the other for $2,000 for revising circulars and other advertising so it would pass through the mails. Ryan testified that Johns insisted that amounts would be small when divided."

The cross-examination of Ryan by Charles W. Baker was terrific, the most prominent question being: "Of how many murders are you guilty?"

RYAN UNDER FIRE.

When Ryan replied that he had been acguitted of the only murder for which he was tried there followed questions as to shooting scrapes and arrests, mostly connected with a saloon formerly conducted by Ryan in St. Louis. He was examined at length about his trial for alleged passing of had checks. Then he was questioned about different arrests, one for securing the corpse of a Chinaman. Baker had Ryan admit he gave Johns, in his own handwriting, a complete statement of his bookmaking, so the latter, as his attorney; could present the case to the Postoffice Department. This document was on the letterheads of the Filbeck Hotel, at Terre Haute, and was submitted in evidence, as were also the contracts for $2,500 and $2,000, on the same letterheads and in the same handwriting of Ryan. It was brought out that there was to be no division of the $2,000 for the revision of Ryan's advertising literature. Ryan admitted that he took in over a million dollars through the mails, and had two hunsand on hand when the postoffice inspectors took charge of his concern. Hiram Rulison closely cross-examined Ryan as to why he had not been indicted as well as Miller and Johns. The witness ied that any bargain had been made or amunity promised him. On redirect examination Ryan testified that Johns dictated the statements and contracts that were in

RYAN'S TALK WITH JOHNS. While Ryan proceeded to repeat in detail the conversation between Johns and himself in the room at the Terre Haute hotel during which the witness claimed to have made a contract with Johns for $4,500 for favorable ruling from Miller as assistant attorney in the office of the assistant attorney general for the Postoffice Department, counsel for the defendants interposed frequent objections which were overruled by Judge Thompson. Ryan proceeded to testify to all his future transactions with Johns as the middle man up to the time last December when Johns came to Cincinnati and they met alone in a room at the Gibson House, where Ryan gave John's $1,100 in cash and $3,400 in two checks. Ryan continued his story about subsequent transactions in which he said Johns wanted more funds right along until the witness inally made a statement of the whole matter to the postoffice inspectors and made no further efforts to get bets on the races

BRISTOW'S REPORT NEARLY READY FOR PUBLICATION.

Will Be Submitted to Postmaster General Payne on Saturday and Given Out Next Week.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.-The first draft of the report of Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow giving results of the recent postal investigation will be submitted to Postmaster General Payne on Saturday. The two officials were in conference until late this afternoon and Mr. Bristow notified his superior officer that the report would be completed on Saturday, but that before it was given publication he desired to edit it carefully. Accordingly Mr. Bristow's story of the investigation will not be given to the public until next week. Great interest attaches to the report, although the principal results of the inquiry have been made known through the arrest and indicement of numerous officials and contractors.
